

Research in a Flash: Mastering Your Elevator Pitch

With Dr. Ken Seligson
Department of Anthropology

Whether you're preparing to network at conferences, speak with potential mentors, or share your work with a broader audience, mastering your elevator pitch is an essential critical skill. This session will guide you through the process of crafting a pitch that captures the essence of your research, highlights its significance, and showcases your passion. Through step-by-step instructions, live examples, and hands-on practice, you'll leave equipped with a polished pitch and the confidence to deliver it.
