

1. Once a page has been edited and is ready for the editor to review it, the contributor can submit the page by click on the Submit button.
2. Users with both Contributor and Editor roles will see two options, Submit and Approve. You can submit for another editor to review the page or you can just approve it.

3. Users with only Contributor role will only see one option, Submit.

4. Once the page is submitted, the status will change from Draft to Review.
